CASIMIR PULASKI INSTITUTE DAY
Saturday, March 3, 2007

The Office of Language and Cultural Education, in collaboration with the Council of Educators in Polonia, is sponsoring Casimir Pulaski Institute Day on Saturday, March 3rd at the Polish Highlanders Alliance in America.

The keynote speaker is children's author Dirk Wales whose latest children's book is Twice a Hero, Polish American Heroes of the Revolutionary War. His keynote address will focus on two questions: What does the writer learn? and What do we learn from the writer?

Following Mr. Wales' presentation, there will be two workshops for teachers:

- 1. Why Should We Teach about Polish Heroes of the American Revolutionary War?
Dr. Marek Suszko, Loyola University

- 2. Making Social Studies Content Comprehensible for ELLs
Dr. Marjorie Aitken, Bilingual Specialist

Participating Chicago Public Schools teachers will receive three (3) CPDUs. Details regarding this institute are as follows:
